ALL MARYVILLE GREETS MARSHALL

150 CARS IN MONSTER PROCESSION TO MEET VICE PRESIDENT.

ADDRESSES HUGE CROWD AT AFTERNOON SESSION

Dockery Acts as Chairman of Meeting —Hay, McAllister and Crossley Other Speakers on Program.

Vice President Marshall, accompanied by Mrs. Marshall, Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, A. M. Dockery, third assistant postmaster general; Wallace Crossley, candidate for lieutenant governor; Frank W. McAllister, candidate for attorney general, and Mrs. McAllister; Charles M. Hay of St. Louis and Congressman C. F. Booher arrived in Maryville today to speak at the Democratic rally held this afternoon and evening in the big tent at the public school grounds.

The afternoon meeting was a little late in commencing, and the big tent seating 3,500 people was jammed and people stood on the outside of the tent.

Mr. Dockery was chairman of the meeting, and gave a brief talk in accepting the chair. Mr. Hay was the first speaker. Mr. Hay was the leader of the "drys" in Jefferson City when a member of the house of representatives. He is now located at St. Louis.

Vice President Marshall received a great ovation when he started to speak.

"There is one thing I want to impress upon you," he said. "That is that the administration of President Wilson has been an honest administration. If mistakes have been made they were honest mistakes. And the legislation enacted by this administration has been with an eye single to the interests of the people and not in the interests of a few.

"The tariff is, or should be, a dead issue. The Democratic party has given to the country a tariff commission and the president power to do things. That ought to and will take care of any conditions which may arise when the big European war is ended and there need be no fear of an influx of goods made by a one-armed or one-legged man in Europe."

He insisted that the farmers ought to know by this time that the tariff was a hindrance and not a help to them because the law of supply and demand created the prices for farm products and no tariff could change the prices.

An attack on the Hughes speeches was made, denouncing the trivial things held up by Mr. Hughes, using the latter's plea for common sense language instead of highflown words as an example.

A plea was made for the American people to discard their German or English spectacles and view the international situation with unprejudiced eyes. He stated that the administration had handled the situation to have friendly relations with all and entanglement with none.

Messrs. McAllister and Crossley followed Vice President Marshall and gave short talks.

This evening's program at the tent on the public school grounds will open with moving pictures of the Democratic national convention held in St. Louis last June. These pictures have only been shown at three places in Missouri, and all who have seen them declared them fine. In addition to scenes of the national convention, the film will show many of the prominent Democrats of the nation and also a few excerpts from speeches delivered by them in this convention.

This film will be shown, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Senator Hoke Smith will be the first speaker of the evening. Senator Smith is one of the most prominent senators in the country. He was secretary of the interior under President Cleveland's administration, and was governor of Georgia, and became Senator from that state in 1911.

AID PRISON REFORM

EXECUTIVE BOARD OF 20TH CENTURY CLUB ADOPTS MEASURES.

ELECT NEW MEMBERS

Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Turner to Join Club—Preparation For District Convention.

The executive board of the Twentieth Century club voted to join the other club women of Missouri in the fight for prison reform, at the called meeting held at the Elks club rooms yesterday afternoon.

Miss Lucie Davis, corresponding secretary of the Twentieth Century club, read a number of resolutions signed by Mrs. C. Charles Clarke, Mrs. Henry Ess and Mrs. Peet, three prominent club women of Kansas City, and the Maryville members voted to sign and adopt these resolutions. They will then be sent on to Governor Major for his approval.

These resolutions were drafted under the assumption that the state board of charities and correction has a right to go to the institutions maintained by public money and suggest reforms and changes that will be for the welfare of the inmates of these institutions. The principal ones are:

1. The changing of the management of the penitentiary from the hands of the nominal board of inspectors to the board of pardons and parole.

2. The appointment of penitentiary officers by a system of civil service examinations rather than as a reward for political service.

3. The building of a separate reformatory for boys and first offenders.

The following women signified their intention of attending the district convention of Missouri club women, to be held at Stanberry next week: Mrs. M. G. Tate and Miss Lucie Davis, who will go as delegates; Mrs. R. L. McDougal, Miss Alma Nash, Miss Orril Helwig, Mrs. Charles Bellows, Mrs. Fred Harvey, Mrs. Leslie Dean, Mrs. A. M. Crook, Mrs. W. J. Osburn, Mrs. W. A. Rickenbrode, Miss Bettie Turner, Mrs. E. G. Orear, Mrs. D. J. Thomas, Mrs. Gallatin Craig, Mrs. Delmar Coffman, Mrs. Harry Todd, Mrs. C. A. Bone, Miss Bessie Todd, Miss Ora Barmann and Miss Jessie Parcher.

The new members voted on for entrance to the club were: Mrs. Elmer Fraser, Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. W. W. Turner.

STEAL MULES AND BUGGY

"Doug" Montgomery and Floyd Brown of Near Skidmore Looking For Property.

"Doug" Montgomery ,a farmer living northeast of Skidmore, is looking for two mules which were stolen from his barn shortly after midnight last night. Along with the mules the purloiners managed to get two halters and a set of brand new harness.

The mules were not missed until this morning. A light rain fell after midnight and because of this Mr. Montgomery was able to trace the mules as far as Wilcox.

Floyd Brown, who lives near Montgomery's, went out with the searching party this morning. Mrs. Brown intended to make a visit to relatives, and when she went out to have the horse hitched up for her trip, she discovered that their single buggy and the reins from their harness were gone. The searching party, therefore, is looking not only for the mules and harness but for a buggy and reins. The latest report is that the mules have been traced to Pickering.

Authorities at Tarkio have apprehended a man and boy who have in their possession two span of mules. One span proved to be the Montgomery span.

BAPTIST CONGREGATION RATIFIES CHOICE OF CHURCH BOARD.

New Minister a Native Missourian—Graduate of William Jewell and of Baptist Seminary in Ky.

About 200 members of the Baptist church, at their regular business session last night, voted unanimously to extend a call to the Rev. T. H. Wiles of Louisville, Ky., who preached in Maryville last Sunday.

The members of the church board had previously voted in favor of Mr. Wiles, and the ratification of the entire church membership was the only thing necessary to make the call of Mr. Wiles certain.

The new minister has already signified his acceptance of the call in case the church should want him, and will arrive in Maryville to take up his new duties about November 1.

Mr. Wiles is a personal friend of the Rev. Lewis M. Hale, who resigned his pastorate here to take a place in St. Louis. He is a native Missourian, and is a graduate of William Jewell college at Liberty and of the Southern Theological Baptist seminary at Louisville, Ky.

YELLOW BADGES THEN PREVAILED

REPUBLICAN RALLY BRINGS OUT GOOD CROWD OF FAITHFUL

CANDIDATES ATTACK PRESENT REGIME

Lamm, Geiger and Other Speakers Score Party in Power But Offer No Program in Return.

The republican rally yesterday brought out a good crowd of the faithful, and yellow badges were the predominating article of wear in Maryville. A good program of leading political luminaries was greeted by a full house at the court house. The court room was well filled when Attorney Sherman Shinabargar called the meeting to order and introduced the permanent chairman, former postmaster Scribner Beech.

Mr. Beech Makes Short Talk.

Mr. Beech made a short talk in which he explained his absence for some time in California, and squared himself by declaring "there is no place like home." He said California is a great state but, like other states, it has its drawbacks as well as its advantages. He declared one of the disadvantages was that his wife was getting young so rapidly out there he was afraid she would fall a prey to infantile paralysis. So he came back home. After a few further humorous remarks he introduced Dr. Jake Geiger of St. Joseph, candidate for congress, as the first speaker.

Dr. Geiger Next Speaker.

Dr. Geiger spoke very briefly, excusing himself on the ground that there were so many topliners present. He admitted that he was not gifted with the "divine art" of swaying men with the power of speech, but he felt a good deal like a minister of whom he had heard. A good brother in announcing a sermon to be delivered by the minister said, "he will preach about the devil and he is just full of it." He declared it his firm conviction that the democratic administration of state affairs had become a "stench in the nostrils of all decent people," and called upon the assembled hosts to elect a ticket that would be as fragrant as the flowers in May, and offered himself as a living exhibit of what a part of the ticket was like.

Regarding High Cost of Living.

Referring to national affairs, the good doctor agreed that the prices of farm products were high, but begged his hearers to remember that only one-third of the people are farmers and that when they are getting such high prices for their corn, hogs and cattle, they are forcing the other two-thirds to buy "beef tongue and oxtail to make ends meet." With this thought the doctor concluded his speech and left the large body of farmers present to think it over.

George Hackmann of Warrenton, candidate for state auditor, was next introduced and explained that he had been county clerk in his home county, felt perfectly able to fill the office to which he aspired and promised to work hard if elected.

Judge Lamm Speaks.

Chairman Beech next turned loose a big one in the person of Judge Henry Lamm of Sedalia, who pleads guilty to a desire to fill the office of Governor. Quite a little burst of cheering met Judge Lamm, and three men stood up and waved their flags. He, too, admitted that he is very much dissatisfied with the way things are done in Missouri, and set about to discuss state affairs. He did this because, as he declared, "a louse in a man's own head bothers him more than a tiger in his neighbor's back yard." He was deeply troubled because the democratic state committee had invited the SHOWS NEED FOR GARDNER.

We frequently disagree with the Globe-Democrat, but quote the following with approval:

"Judge Lamm stated in one of his recent speeches that the individual chosen governor of Missouri in November should receive sympathy rather than congratulations. He will have a mighty task before him. Not only must he find remunerative employment for some 2,500 convicts who will be idle on New Year's, but he must set about removing from all the state's institutions the blight of the spoils system. He must introduce methods of economy and efficiency. He must recommend and pass upon legislation too long delayed. He must see that it is clear, workable and without jokers."

The difficulties which the Globe-Democrat points out are largely business difficulties, and for the purpose of solving them the Republic advocates the election of a highly successful business man—Fred Gardner. For the same office the Globe-Democrat supports a lawyer whose conduct in this campaign is distinguished for loose thinking and wild talk.

Armed with a young cannon, Miles Stafford of Pattonsburg patrolled the edge of his corn field from which thieves had been helping themselves. Presently he spied a man leaving the field. He called to the thief to halt, and upon his refusal to do so he fired. Let the Pattonsburg Call finish the tale: "The bullet intended for the forager struck the residence of Mr. Helms, a quarter of a mile away, passed through the kitchen wall, through two aluminum pans that were on the table and struck the cook stove, tearing off a piece of casting which fell into the third utensil, breaking it. The bullet came to rest in the opposite wall without having spilled human blood. It would seem from his actions that Stafford intends to discourage the practice of stealing his corn."

The Round Oak Double Burner

Heats like a base burner, and on account of the intake hot blast will burn a great percentage of the free gas, of which soft coal is about 85 per cent. This makes a great saving in fuel and heats more square feet of room per ton of coal consumed.

The fire bowl of the Round Oak is about 10 inches closer to the floor than any other Round Oak heater, hence, heats the floor better, and is the longest lifed heater on the market.

The Doewajack Wood Heater

Is built like all other Round Oak Stoves—the best—and will hold fire longer, heat the floor better and burn less wood than any other.

Salads, with delicious sandwiches, tempting to any woman and most men.

Have you heard of the "pantry booth" which will make Saturday's work easier for the housewife?

Fancy work to your heart's content, all so beautifully done. Why, you'll find just the exact choice to send to your friend, or would you like an apron, either practical or dainty?

Don't fail to see the "Flower Lovers' Nook." Wonderful surprises await you there.

Tea or coffee from the "purking" pot,
Awful fine, I tell you what,
Some sensation, is it not?

Should the weather prove unsuitable for Lawn Fete, we'll all meet then at the Robinson building, two doors north of the Linville hotel.

teachers of the state who so desire to contribute something toward defraying the expenses of the election of his opponent and the Democratic ticket. He thought it was a burning shame, and that the money so collected should be returned to the donors. He also criticised the committee for making certain other requests for money. He did not mention the sources from which his committee derived its expense money, nor why he felt able to ignore the sources to which the Democrats appealed.

Attacks Present Administration.

He made the oft repeated charge that the Democrats had attempted to take $334,000 from the school children of the state. He read a plank from the Democratic state platform and vigorously attacked the administration of Governor Major. He admitted that Governor Major is not running for anything now "except oblivion," and admitted also that he had declined to debate state issues with Governor Major, though he makes his administration his chief object of attack. He spent some time explaining the meaning of certain words in the portion of the platform he had read, and especially of the word "unreservedly." He finally arrived at the conclusion that when a bull frog is scared up on the banks of a pond, he always jumps, and jumps into the water "unreservedly."

He declared the state is in debt to all the eleemosynary institutions of the state and is running on borrowed money.

Scores Land Bank Bill.

He then launched into an extended attack on the Gardner land bank bill. He declared it unconstitutional, declared that it would be a political bank, that it was headed in the direction of the single tax, and that in ten years the state would have lost the one million dollars required to start it. Altogether the judge drew a gloomy picture and seemed to much prefer that the people should elect him governor instead of his opponent, Col. Gardner. As an extra inducement he declared that they might elect him without any land bank and he would be perfectly satisfied.

After finding all this fault, Judge Lamm, like the distinguished candidate whom he seems to imitate, declared that he had no program to offer. His talk was punctuated with frequent applause, but there was no great demonstration, which one of his admirers explained by saying, "this is serious business."

The New "Patrick Henry."

The chairman next introduced Hon. Phil Campbell, member of Congress from Kansas. Mr. Campbell has the hair of Thomas Jefferson, the face of Alexander Hamilton and the style of Patrick Henry.

Among the members of Congress he is frequently referred to as the new Patrick Henry. Deacon Moorehead of Hopkins is a great admirer of Mr. Campbell and was a fellow student with him at Baker University at Baldwin, Kans. Mr. Campbell devoted his attention to national affairs and declared the democrats had failed to redeem the promise made in the Baltimore platform. The audience had grown somewhat restless under Judge Lamm's spellbinding, and Mr. Campbell soon realized that it would be difficult to hold the crowd, so he quit after about thirty minutes, announcing that he would finish his speech at the night meeting.

Target, State Department.

During the time he talked he made the state department at Washington his especial target. He criticised the appointment of Mr. Bryan as Secretary of State, criticised the appointment of "deserving democrats" by Mr. Bryan, and left the impression that every embarrassing situation was the result of bad handling. He declared the country needed, first of all, to be restored to its place among the nations of the world as a nation that would defend its rights and command the respect of the world. He said he would not charge the President with a lack of patriotism, nor would he charge that he was not seriously and sincerely devoted to his country's welfare, but his policies are wrong, he thinks.

He declared that the next great need of the country is a restoration of the American market, which in simple language means the restoration of a protective tariff. It was during the discussion of this much abused subject that Mr. Campbell gave up and allowed the crowd to go.

Wadsworth, Evening Speaker.

A crowd that comfortably filled the court house listened last night to speeches by Senator Wadsworth of New York, Congressman Phil Campbell of Kansas and A. B. Hyde of Trenton. The speech by Senator Wadsworth was a smooth, well delivered address. His argument was the best from the Republican standpoint delivered during the day. He admitted the great prosperity of the country, but ascribed it entirely to the war, and undertook to prove that unless a Republican tariff is re-enacted this country will be plunged into financial ruin when the war is closed. He also discussed the conduct of affairs with Mexico and, of course, found fault with the president's course.

Attacks Tariff Question.

Mr. Campbell at the night session girded on his armor and tackled the tariff question once more. He, like the preceding speaker, admitted the prosperity of the country, but drew a terrible picture of what is to happen to this country later on unless the Republicans are restored to power. He told the audience that the Underwood tariff law, for which a number of Republicans in congress voted, had been named a competitive tariff and then defined a competitive tariff as one that would bring the American manufacturer and the American farmer into competition with all the hordes of the earth, including China. His night speech was of the old-time order and was plainly tiresome to an intelligent, well-read audience.

Hyde Arouses Crowd.

R. M. Hyde, an attorney of Trenton, who is an ardent admirer of Theodore Roosevelt, aroused the crowd and left it in an amiable frame of mind. Mr. Hyde has proved his devotion to Roosevelt by following him from the Republican party into the Progressive party, and has now followed him back into the Republican party. He told some good stories, and finished with a catchy play upon song titles, closing with "The Old-Time Religion is Good Enough for Me."

THAT BAD BACK

Do you have a dull, steady ache in the small of the back—sharp, stabbing twinges when stooping or lifting—distressing urinary disorders? For bad back and weakened kidneys Maryville residents recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Maryville man's statement.

H. C. Cornett, painter and paperhanger, 805 North Buchanan street, Maryville, says: "In my work I have a great deal of reaching and standing to do and my back began to hurt me so severely across my hips I was greatly handicapped. I couldn't bend or lift without pain. My kidneys were much too frequent in action, breaking my rest at night and leaving me all tired out in the morning. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and secured fine benefit."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Cornett had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

"EAST LYNNE" IN PICTURES

Theda Bara Stars in Film to Be Shown at Fern Theater Friday Night.

When an actress who has been through the mill of drama, and at that played scores of emotional parts, falls to weeping at the sheer strength of the role she acts, it is high time to take notice. This was done by Theda Bara, the "vampire woman" of filmland, when she had completed her work in the all-star cast of "East Lynne," a modern revival in picture play form of the many years stage favorite.

"After I would finish my parts from day to day," said Miss Bara after the picture was completed, "it seemed that I simply could not keep the tears back. And I do not cry easily as most women. Tears are rarer than black pearls with me.

"It seemed that the plot of 'East Lynne,' at least as we interpreted it for the camera, was the most powerful thing I have done. And everybody knows that my parts in other William Fox photodramas have not been weak ones when it comes to emotional roles."

Miss Bara's support in "East Lynne" makes the favorite play, known for a decade to theatergoers of America, England and British provinces, unusually welcome in moving picture form. The screen star is supported by a cast including such William Fox artists as Claire Whitney, that dainty little actress of picture prominence; Stuart Holmes, the movie villain of twisted mustache; W. H. Tooker and Stanhope Wheatcroft, stage and screen actors of sound training and many previous successes.

Several of the older actors and actresses in the cast had done "East Lynne" when it was a flourishing stage favorite a score of years ago, and at the New Jersey Fox studios they heaved to with a will, under the direction of Bertram Bracken, who is in charge of the making of pictures starring Miss Bara. The picture parts were taken with an unusually few hitches, and the film runs as smoothly as oil in unfolding the powerful story of English country life, with its gambling and hard-riding squires and women of deep emotions. Miss Bara as Isabel fits her part to a T. And in acting it she feels it, as her personal emotional confessions evidence.

SOLDIERS GOT RELIEF FROM SORENESS

Boys On the Border Relieved Their Pains and Aches With Sloan's Liniment.

Once upon a time Norman Jones, serving in the National Guard at El Paso, returned to camp after a strenuous 15-mile hike foot sore and leg weary. He had not been long in active service and his shoulders, back and limbs felt the after-effects of marching.

Remembering Sloan's Liniment, Jones applied it to the sore spots and went to bed. He writes: "I arose the next morning feeling fine; in fact, I had entirely forgotten about the hike and went out for a four-hour drill in the sun as spry as ever."

Private Jones passed the experience along, and many a boy on the border relieved the agony of sprains, strains, bruises, insect bites, cramped muscles, rheumatic twinges, etc., by the use of Sloan's Liniment.

Easily applied without rubbing. At all druggists, 25c, 50c and $1.00.
